2023 PRESIDENT-ELECT CANDIDATE WRITTEN QUESTIONS

Jeffrey M. Goodloe, MD, FACEP

Question #1: How would you address concerns that ACEP may be unduly influenced by corporate practice interests?

I'll address such concerns directly, relating my cumulative experience during nearly four years of service to date on the ACEP Board of Directors. I genuinely believe that for ACEP to ethically represent all of its members, ACEP must be vigilant to avoid being "unduly influenced" by any interests other than those that seek to serve all of its members with integrity, accountability, and transparency.

Given today's challenging health care environments, I believe what current and potential ACEP members understandably fear is loss of abilities to optimally care for patients, to create growth-minded workplaces, to have entrepreneurial freedoms in forming democratic group practices, to have opportunities to promote in any practice structure, and to provide for their loved ones. Now, what does that pragmatically mean? Such fear may foster cynicism that elected ACEP leaders will sell the aspirations and very souls of emergency physicians for personal windfall through ACEP advocacy and policy that serves self above others, or alternatively, silence when advocacy and policy should speak loudly. Let's speak candidly about this. How often do I encounter "serving self before others" actions by ACEP Board of Directors members? Truly, I haven't seen one appreciable instance yet. If such motive more secretly exists, it certainly hasn't won a contested vote or set a course of ACEP advocacy. Instead, what I've found is a diverse group of leader members, changing yearly in composition, and continuously unified in protecting and advancing the future for emergency physicians, patients, and our beloved specialty.

I welcome both ACEP's most ardent supporters and harshest critics to attend ACEP Board of Directors meetings. Concerns, fears, suspicions, and outright distrust is fostered, unintentionally or otherwise when unknowns are created. Seeing and hearing firsthand your Board of Directors debate and decide advocacy and policy is a powerful way to dissolve prior unknowns and to prevent future ones forming.

ACEP communications now highlight the College's annual budget reflects less than one percent of revenue comes from contract management groups, and by extension, related corporate practice interests. Better quantified, the meaningful measure of ACEP avoiding undue influence by corporate practice interests is found in the College's day to day advocacy priorities and policy making deliberations. I fully support ACEP's statement on private equity and corporate investment in emergency medicine (<https://www.acep.org/administration/physician-autonomy/acep-statement-on-private-equity-and-corporate-investment-in-emergency-medicine>), voting for the statement's passage in April 2022. I am equally committed to continuing representing all ACEP members in my elected duties on your Board of Directors and as an enthusiastic candidate to be your next President-Elect.

Question #2: What are your ideas for creating and/or providing tangible and indispensable benefits to ACEP members?

For years now, I have found in successfully recruiting members, and in retaining happy members, in ACEP equates to emergency physicians finding tangible value in ACEP. What does that tangibility look like? There are at least some commonalities we share as emergency physicians choosing ACEP membership. Unimpeded patient access to our care for time-sensitive emergencies, fair reimbursement for our skilled services, liability protections for our care within reasonable clinical standards, and safe workplaces without discrimination for who we are as individuals are just a few of those values in which we can all find combined advocacy through ACEP to be stronger than ours as lone individuals.

We must better promote what ACEP advocacy at both federal and state levels achieves. Some recent examples of success are found in the passage of the Dr. Lorna Breen Health Care Provider Protection Act (federal), requiring trained security officers in every emergency department (Virginia), requiring physician leadership of emergency departments and a physician being physically present in the emergency department at any hospital (Indiana), and protecting our physician scope of practice that protects our physician practice opportunities from independently practicing nurse practitioners or physician assistants (Louisiana). Each and all of these examples are achievements empowered by ACEP and ACEP state chapters. It is unlikely, if not impossible, that any of us could have achieved these important wins for emergency physicians and our patients by individual action alone.

Beyond these examples of widely shared goals, each of us as emergency physicians find parts of our specialty's practice that we focus on for differing reasons, perhaps because we identify with an underrepresented population in our society, we have a family member with a particular illness or injury, or we discover an emergency medicine subspecialty in which we can satisfy our intellectual curiosities. Apart from our roles and abilities as emergency physicians, we may develop a passion for non-medical aspects of life (travel, history, writing, etc.). Any of these more individualized choices can be enriched through the ACEP community, be it through clinical education resources, speaking opportunities at conferences or via webinars, or one of the latest College services, member interest groups that connect us with like-minded colleagues.

The key in any and all of this is to first listen to the answer to this question, “What excites you about emergency medicine?” The answer, or more likely answers, can then lead to discovering how much ACEP actually is doing today and might include in future products and services. While the College cannot realistically be all things to every member, the reality is we each can benefit by the College growing in membership. A growing College is a stronger College, with capabilities for additional member resources. As your immediate past Secretary/Treasurer, I am significantly educated on our annual budget. Membership dues are currently the second largest revenue source, trailing only educational meetings. The Board of Directors is wisely focused on growing non-dues revenue sources. While accreditation programs for geriatric emergency medicine, pain and addiction care in the emergency department, and emergency departments in general are primarily designed to improve resources and capabilities to benefit both patients and emergency physicians, these each represent non-dues revenue streams to enable ACEP to create more tangible resources for members, from smartphone apps to significant wins in reimbursement, liability protection, and work opportunities.

Question #3: What new thoughts do you have in balancing board certified emergency physician workforce distribution gaps and safe scope of practice for non-physicians?

Advances often come through focusing on executing fundamental actions particularly well. Coach John Wooden was famous for focusing on the fundamentals, sometimes called “little things.” When those same fundamentals done right achieve great success, they aren’t little at all. How does that apply to the role of the board certified emergency physician? Fundamentally, I believe every patient coming to an emergency department is best served by care delivered by board certified emergency physicians. Period.

So, to that end, I don’t believe there is a “balance” when it comes to board certified emergency physician anything and scope of practice for non-physicians anything. If that sounds distinctly definitive, then point purposefully made.

Does this lack of balance I promote equate to no role(s) for non-physicians in an emergency department? Considering I’ve worked with numerous physician assistants and nurse practitioners in emergency departments over my 25 years post-residency, you may correctly surmise I have found successful inclusion, which by my definition “successful” includes safety for all involved, of physician assistants and/or nurse practitioners on a physician-led team in an emergency department. Did I bold type “physician-led” in that last sentence? Good. Another point purposefully made.

As your national ACEP liaison to the American Academy of Emergency Nurse Practitioners (AAENP), I have the incredible honor, privilege, and responsibility to be your “voice” during AAENP Board of Director meetings. I assure you that I speak for you clearly, respectfully, responsibly, and always in a manner that promotes, first and foremost, the principle that board certified emergency physicians must be the leaders of care in any emergency department.

Today’s reality is many rural emergency departments are staffed solely by physician assistants and/or nurse practitioners. On functionally useless in real time to patient care on-call rosters, these same physician assistants and/or nurse practitioners may be “backed up” by physicians. Often these “back ups” are located 20-30 minutes from being physically present when called to assist patient care at the bedside. Factoring such, an order to transfer the patient immediately by ground or air EMS is the only actual support per se these non-physicians receive. I believe that’s an untenable risk to everyone involved, particularly the patient expecting safe, clinically accurate emergency care.

Our Indiana ACEP colleagues have helped us all as emergency physicians in championing the passage of state legislation mandating a physician leading a hospital’s emergency department to be physically present in that hospital. While that law today does not specify that physician must be a board certified emergency physician, we can readily understand that to be the next step of progress in a future legislative bill that builds upon today’s advance in care. This is an important opportunity for board certified emergency physicians to secure those positions today, impressing upon hospital administrations the essential benefits to the patients, the medical staff, and the hospital itself uniquely enabled by board certified emergency physicians.

In select situations, technology may provide opportunities in the interim until similar laws can be promulgated nationwide. Colleagues at the University of Mississippi Medical Center have developed a robust telehealth network with over 25 critical access hospitals in that state. Physician assistants and/or nurse practitioners receive real-time telehealth consults from residency faculty, board certified emergency physicians in Jackson. The volume over time has allowed for full-time faculty shifts focused on telehealth consults. Today, not in spirit, but in true impact, care is increasingly emergency physician led in these networked emergency departments. We must always work against a balance. The weighting must strongly be on patient safety and on expanding the opportunities for board certified emergency physicians. ACEP advocacy, both nationally and increasingly through state chapter support, is more important than ever in achieving these goals.

Describe current emergency medicine practice. (e.g. type of employment, type of facility, single or multi-hospital group, etc.)

I am employed full time by the University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine. My roles include serving as medical school faculty as a professor of emergency medicine and clinically as an attending faculty physician in the Hillcrest Medical Center Emergency Center (Comprehensive Stroke Center, full-service cardiovascular institute site – including ECMO and VAD surgeries, Level III Trauma Center, regional burn center for geographical areas of four states, Level III NICU) supervising residents in Emergency Medicine, Internal Medicine, Family Medicine, OB/GYN, fellows in Pediatric Emergency Medicine, and medical students. The University of Oklahoma Department of Emergency Medicine faculty partially staffs four emergency departments in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, employing a university academic group/regional democratic private group collaborative structure. I am staff credentialed at Hillcrest Medical Center in Tulsa, the base hospital for the EM residency, though I have been staff credentialed in prior years at two other teaching community hospitals in Tulsa. I also serve as the Chief Medical Officer for the EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa, clinically leading over 2,800 credentialed EMS professionals working in an ambulance service, fire departments, law enforcement agencies, industrial emergency response teams or emergency communications centers. I further serve as a tactical emergency physician and Medical Director for the Oklahoma Highway Patrol, responding on emergency tactical missions across the entire state. Additional practice roles include special events medical support planning for metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa and as an educational program medical director for EMT and Paramedic education at Tulsa Community College. I also frequently lecture at national educational meetings, such as the EMerald Coast Conference (multiple ACEP state chapter annual conference in Florida) and EMS State of the Science – A Gathering of Eagles.

Re: Endorsement of Jeffrey M. Goodloe, MD, FACEP for election to ACEP President-Elect

Dear Councillors,

On behalf of the Oklahoma College of Emergency Physicians (OCEP), I write to enthusiastically endorse the election of Dr. Jeffrey M. Goodloe as ACEP's next President-Elect.

Dr. Goodloe is well known nationally within ACEP due to his dynamic, servant leadership. Dr. Goodloe's fellow board members signal agreement by electing him ACEP Secretary-Treasurer last year. Results-focused, team-building, clear-speaking leadership is a decades-long "Jeff Goodloe hallmark" starting prior to his EMRA presidency in the late 1990s. He has been a 15-year plus active councillor, serving on Council Steering Committee and reference committees, including chairing a reference committee.

Dr. Goodloe is relentlessly active in advocacy at both state and federal levels, respected among Oklahoma's State and US Representatives and Senators. Tellingly, both Representative Kevin Hern (OK-01) and Senator Markwayne Mullin (OK) have designated him as the "emergency medicine expert" on their respective healthcare panels. Dr. Goodloe has personally hosted both of these legislative leaders at his local emergency department, including arranging their time with emergency medicine residents at the University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine. Sen. Mullin counts on Dr. Goodloe's insights to help frame his own advocacy for constituents struggling with opioid use disorder. With Dr. Goodloe at his immediate side in multiple town halls in Oklahoma, then Rep. Mullin pointed out, "Clearly, emergency medicine is not the problem; they (emergency medicine physicians) are part of our answer!"

Dr. Goodloe is an active promoter of Emergency Medicine's future, speaking candidly and passionately about the importance of emergency physicians to the health of our communities and nation. He is dependably a "first call" by ACEP's public relations team when complicated, politically charged issues need a scientifically sound and layperson relatable voice amidst the chaos. Repeatedly, Jeff has proven that resource that we need to reassure our patients and the public that emergency physicians are their allies in health. When much of our society is understandably cynical, it is a trusted leader like Dr. Goodloe that we need speaking as our national President.

Jeff Goodloe's critical thinking and ability to manage dynamic situations has been trusted by generations of ACEP leaders, including multiple ACEP presidents, evidenced in part by a committee chair appointment and multiple appointments to other committees and task forces, either as a member or as board liaison.

Within The Sooner State, Dr. Goodloe has effectively led OCEP as a Board Member since 2007 and as our President in 2016-2019, helping create a resurgence in engaged chapter membership. We continue to see a multi-generational surge of energy in notable part due to Jeff's tireless encouragement of chapter members' engagement in both OCEP and ACEP. Further, Jeff led OCEP in electing our first resident member to full Councillor status with concurrent election to our board of directors. We are excited to increasingly promote the next generation of emergency medicine leaders in Oklahoma.

Dr. Goodloe is a consummate collaborator and leader, encouraging involvement of any OCEP member willing to serve, especially those focusing on the mentorship of younger members.

We are certain that Dr. Goodloe would verify the above, though reluctantly, given his modest, shining light on others leadership style. I submit to you that it is hard to find a more giving, humble leader with unquestionable integrity and ethics.

In closing, OCEP respectfully and strongly encourages the ACEP Council to elect Jeffrey M. Goodloe, MD, FACEP as ACEP President-Elect and becoming the first Oklahoma-based President-Elect in ACEP history.

Councillors,

I am humbled and motivated by your support while serving you on the ACEP Board of Directors. I so enjoy the privilege of supporting and leading within ACEP – THE home of emergency medicine's future built upon an unparalleled present and past.

In recent years, we experienced unexpected appreciation. Who can forget seeing, if not directly hearing, the public's nightly clanging of pots and pans out windows, off porches, and on balconies to "voice" thankfulness that we put our own health on the line in valiantly treating a novel and serious virus? I didn't expect noisy cooking utensils or any other instrument of praise, though I believe we earned it – not because we are better humans, rather because of what we did and continue to do: carry hope's torch for anyone, anytime, nearly anyplace that needs emergency physician care.

Perhaps you still hear metallic sounds nightly. I do, but it's not pots and pans. I hear motor vehicle collisions, firearm discharges in the chaos of uncontrolled emotions, and industrial accidents. And still we stand at the ready, willing to treat any and all. Widespread praise though has given way to assumptions of our presence.

As I've worked on incredible ACEP teams – committees, task forces, sections, and with fellow Board of Directors members – there is a common thread to our challenges. We are fighting the simple yet powerful fact that we and our specialty have now existed in abundance – at least in urban and suburban areas – and for enough decades that the once unthinkable are now automatic benefits of American life.

Some vocalize we are witnessing the death of our specialty, we are left to gasp cyanotically while choked by private equity, and our once limitless career prospects have departed as surely as Elvis has left the building. I support freedom of speech, but...I ardently assert those prognostications are wrong.

Emergency physicians embrace many roles in a typical career, but we do not embrace the role of victim. That is not our blood type. That is not within our driving values. And that is not what we and our patients need us to do. We must rise at this point in time – this point in OUR time – for ourselves, for our families, for those who will follow us in service, and for our patients.

As I travel across our country, listening at state chapter gatherings and meeting with myriads of emergency physicians, I see understandable angst though I am certain I am seeing something far stronger – determination that we will prevail – in valuing ourselves, in effectively enlisting a public now passively taking us for granted, and certainly in facing those actively committed to devaluing us through automatic denials of fair reimbursement, through replacing us with paper-milled, independently adrift nurse practitioners, and through legislating and regulating all manner of handcuffs upon us against our abilities to do what we nobly do best for anyone needing our compassion and skills.

It is fitting that we meet in Philadelphia, a city equated with visionaries valuing freedom – to pursue, to serve, to achieve. We must recognize that within us – our dedication to one another, this specialty, and our patients – is far stronger than opposition to our shared values. We must find better ways forward to clearly, effectively, relentlessly build the best days of emergency medicine. Our best days are not described in our history; they are ahead.

VII. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP

1. Grants/Funded Projects

- a. 2015 EMS Medical Director Course and CQI Practicum. Principal Instructor and Course Coordinator for University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine, Department of Emergency Medicine, EMS Section. Under contract with Rogers EMS Consulting. Project was completed in June 2015 and entailed delivery of the State of Oklahoma EMS Medical Director Course and CQI Practicum in Antlers, Altus, and Fairview. Direct funding at $6,000 by Rogers EMS Consulting.
- b. 2014 EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum. Principal Instructor and Course Coordinator for University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine, Department of Emergency Medicine, EMS Section. Under contract with Rogers EMS Consulting. Project was completed in June 2014 and entailed delivery of the State of Oklahoma EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum in Ardmore and Lawton. Direct funding at $12,500 by Rogers EMS Consulting.
- c. 2013-14 Update State of Oklahoma EMS Treatment Protocols and EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum. Principal Developer for University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine, Department of Emergency Medicine, EMS Section. Under contract with the Oklahoma State Department of Health Protective Health Services EMS/Trauma Division. Project was completed in April 2014 and entailed development of EMS treatment protocols that are endorsed as the official 2014 State of Oklahoma EMS treatment protocols for use by all ground-based EMS agencies. Additional deliverable components included development of update methodologies and curriculum refinement and delivery of the State of Oklahoma EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum in Muskogee and Stillwater. Direct funding at $40,000 by Oklahoma State Department of Health.

- d. 2011-12 Development of State of Oklahoma EMS Treatment Protocols and EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum. Principal Developer for University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine, Department of Emergency Medicine, EMS Division. Under contract with the Oklahoma State Department of Health Protective Health Services EMS/Trauma Division. Project was completed in September 2012 and entailed development of EMS treatment protocols that are endorsed as the official State of Oklahoma EMS treatment protocols for use by all ground-based EMS agencies. Additional deliverable components included development of update methodologies and curriculum refinement and delivery of the State of Oklahoma EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum. Direct funding at $169,000 by Oklahoma State Department of Health.
- e. 2010-11 Development of a white paper on EMS System Design. Principal Editor for University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine, Department of Emergency Medicine, EMS Division. Project was completed in July 2011 with deliverable exceeding expectation of commissioning entity. Authors were personally recruited from Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Indianapolis, Birmingham, and Charlotte. Co-Editor is Dr. Stephen H. Thomas. Direct funding at $27,000 by Emergency Medical Services Authority in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

2. Research Projects

- a. IRB Waived/662445. Paramedic Compliance with a Novel Defibrillation Strategy in a Large, Urban EMS System in the United States. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2017 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involves one EM resident.
- b. IRB Waived/662516. Morbid Obesity Association with Return of Spontaneous Circulation from Sudden Cardiac Arrest Treated in a Large, Urban EMS System in the United States. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2017 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involves one EM resident.

- c. IRB Waived/603842. Prevalence and Survival Impact of Bystander Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation in Sudden Cardiac Arrest Victims Treated by a Large, Urban EMS System in North America. Principal Investigator. Accepted for oral presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2015 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine.
- d. IRB Waived/603842. Demographics of Twenty-One Years of Sudden Cardiac Arrest Victims Treated by a Large, Urban EMS System in North America. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2015 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine.
- e. IRB Waived/603842. The Prevalence and Impact of Ventricular Fibrillation as the Initial Cardiac Arrest Dysrhythmia over Twenty Years in a Large, Urban EMS System. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2015 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2015 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine.
- f. Other IRB Waived. The Effect of CPR Quality: A Potential Confounder of CPR Clinical Trials and Important National Healthcare Issue. Co-Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2015 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care.
- g. IRB Waived/3472. Epinephrine Usage for Allergic Reactions and Anaphylaxis in a Large, Urban EMS System. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Accepted for poster presentation at International Conference on Emergency Medicine 2014. Project involves one medical student and one EM resident.
- h. IRB Waived/3319. Tourniquet Utilization in a Large, Urban EMS System. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Accepted at International Conference on Emergency Medicine 2014. Project involves one EM resident.
- i. IRB Waived/3330. Airway Management in Adult, Non-Traumatic Cardiopulmonary Arrest in a Large, Urban EMS System. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for 2 poster presentations at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Both abstracts published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Accepted for 2 poster presentations at International Conference on Emergency Medicine 2014. Project involves one undergraduate student, one medical student, and one EM resident.

- j. IRB Waived/3320. Adenosine Usage for PSVT Cardioversion in a Large, Urban EMS System. Principal Investigator. Accepted for poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Accepted for poster presentation at International Conference on Emergency Medicine 2014. Project involves two undergraduate students.
- k. IRB Approved. EMS Stretcher “Misadventures” in a Large, Urban EMS System: A Longitudinal Analysis of Contributing Factors and Resultant Injuries. Senior Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involves one medical student.
- l. IRB Approved 16247/1256. Emergency Medical Technician Acquisition and Transmission of 12-Lead ECG Using a Novel Device (ReadyLink). Principal Investigator. Project involves one EM resident and one medical student. Poster presentation at American College of Cardiology 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Journal of the American College of Cardiology. Poster presentation at Society for Academic Emergency Medicine 2013 Annual Meeting. Poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Manuscript in progress. Project involves one undergraduate student and one EM resident.
- m. IRB Waived. US Metropolitan Municipalities EMS Medical Directors Consortium (Eagles) Traumatic Shock and Hemorrhage Control Standards of Care Survey. Principal Investigator.
- n. IRB Waived. US Metropolitan Municipalities EMS Medical Directors Consortium (Eagles) Neurologic Emergencies Standards of Care Survey. Principal Investigator.
- o. IRB Approved 16038. Prehospital Barriers to the Use of Therapeutic Hypothermia for Cardiac Arrest. Senior Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2012 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Oral presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involved one EM resident and one medical student.

- p. IRB Waived. Parenteral Dextrose Utilization in a Large, Urban Emergency Medical Services System. Senior Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2012 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involved one EM resident that presented the poster and one medical student.
- q. IRB Waived. US Metropolitan Municipalities EMS Medical Directors Consortium (Eagles) State of Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation Practices Survey. Principal Investigator. Poster presentation at Society for Academic Emergency Medicine 2012 Annual Meeting and American College of Cardiology 2012 Annual Meeting. Oral presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2013 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Medicine. Project involved one EMS fellow.
- r. IRB Approved. A Statewide Survey of Emergency Department Standards of Care for Acute Coronary Syndromes - Variability and Opportunity for Advancement. Senior Investigator. Poster presentation at American College of Cardiology 2012 Annual Meeting. Project involved two EM residents and two medical students.
- s. IRB Approved 15336. EMS Stretcher "Misadventures" in a Large, Urban EMS System: A Descriptive Analysis of Contributing Factors and Resultant Injuries. Principal Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2011 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster Presentation at OU-Tulsa 2011 Research Day. Poster presentation at the Texas Department of State Health Services 2011 EMS Conference Research Forum. Manuscript completed and published in EM International – Special Edition Focus on Prehospital Care. Project involved a medical student that presented the poster and wrote the first draft of the manuscript as well.
- t. IRB Approved 15335. Use of an Ambulance Siren Low Frequency Enhancer, Howler™ in a Large, Urban Emergency Medical Services (EMS) System - Do Collision Rates Decrease? Principal Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2011 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster Presentation at OU-Tulsa 2011 Research Day. Poster presentation at the Texas Department of State Health Services 2011 EMS Conference Research Forum. Project involved an EM resident that presented the poster as well.

- u. IRB Approved. A Statewide Survey of Emergency Medical Services Standards of Care for Acute Coronary Syndromes - Variability and Opportunity in a State without Mandatory Statewide Treatment Protocols. Principal Investigator. Poster presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2011 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster Presentation at OU-Tulsa 2011 Research Day. Poster presentation at the Texas Department of State Health Services 2011 EMS Conference Research Forum. Project involved an EM resident.
- v. IRB Approved 14838. EMS Override of Emergency Department EMS Diversion Requests for Clinically Stable Patients with Pre-Existing Health Care Network Relationships - Effects of an Administrative Change. Principal Investigator. Poster Presentation at OU-Tulsa 2010 Research Day. Project involved an EM resident.
- w. IRB Approved 14839. Timeliness of post-intubation capnography application - effects of educational intervention on paramedic performance. Principal Investigator. Poster Presentation at National Association of EMS Physicians 2010 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Poster Presentation at OU-Tulsa 2010 Research Day. Project involved an EM resident. Project involved an EM resident that presented the poster and wrote a first draft manuscript.

3. Teaching Materials Developed

- a. State of Oklahoma EMS Medical Director Course and Practicum for Oklahoma State Department of Health. Full course developed and delivered in Muskogee, Stillwater, Ardmore, and Lawton in March – June 2014, McAlester, Tulsa, Lawton, and Enid in July/August 2012. Beta course developed and delivered in Oklahoma City in June 2010.
- b. Oklahoma Trauma Education Program (OTEP) 2008. Materials on multi-systems trauma management and transfer, and hand injury management and transfer. Peer reviewed within the Department of Emergency Medicine.

4. Invited Participation in Academic Conferences

- a. National EMS Board Certification Review Course – Dallas, Texas (August 2017 & September 2015), Tucson, Arizona (January 2014), Seattle, Washington (October 2013), and Las Vegas, Nevada (September 2013). Sponsored by ACEP and NAEMSP. Served as course curriculum developer and faculty lecturer.

- b. National EMS Medical Director's Course – Bonita Springs, Florida – (January 2013). Sponsored by NAEMSP. Served as faculty lecturer, panelist, and case study discussion leader.
- c. National EMS Information System (NEMSIS) 3.0 Development Review in Conjunction with EMS Benchmarking in ST Elevation Myocardial Infarction, Out of Hospital Cardiac Arrest, and Stroke – Atlanta, Georgia - (March 2010). Sponsored by the CDC and EMS Performance Improvement Center at University of North Carolina Chapel Hill. Served as an expert opinion contributor, representing The US Metropolitan Municipalities EMS Medical Directors Consortium.
- d. Patient Safety in EMS Roundtable - Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada - (June 2009). Sponsored by The Canadian Patient Safety Institute (CPSI), the Emergency Medical Services Chiefs of Canada (EMSCC), the Calgary EMS Foundation, and members from a pan-Canadian Patient Safety in EMS Advisory Group. Served as an expert opinion contributor and led discussion group.

5. Other Academic Activity

- a. Staphylococcal Toxic Shock Syndrome: Forgotten Foreign Body. Poster presentation. Scarborough J (resident) and Goodloe JM. OU Clinical Vignettes Symposium. May 2020 – Tulsa, Oklahoma.
- b. Gradenigo's: A Forgotten Syndrome. Oral presentation. Milman B (resident) and Goodloe JM. OU Clinical Vignettes Symposium. May 2019 – Tulsa, Oklahoma. Awarded most outstanding oral presentation.
- c. 2nd Annual Oklahoma Resuscitation Academy – April 2015, Oklahoma City. Course Coordinator for 2-day national resuscitation conference.
- d. Mass Gathering Medical Care in a Motorsports Event-Based Collaborative Training Program. Accepted for poster presentation at Innovations in EMS Fellow Education Symposium at National Association of EMS Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for oral presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Physicians.
- e. Tactical Emergency Medicine Care in a Military Medicine, Law Enforcement, and Emergency Medicine Collaborative Training Program. Accepted for poster presentation at Innovations in EMS Fellow Education Symposium at National Association of EMS

Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Prehospital Emergency Care. Accepted for oral presentation at Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians 2014 Annual Meeting. Abstract published in Canadian Journal of Emergency Physicians.

- f. Oklahoma Resuscitation Academy – April 2014, Oklahoma City. Course Coordinator for 2-day national resuscitation conference.

CURRICULUM VITAE

- 2013 TRANEXAMIC ACID
Office of the Medical Director/Medical Control Board
EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa CE
Hemostasis options in traumatic hemorrhage
What is tranexamic acid (TXA)? Historical uses of TXA
Review of CRASH-2 and MATTERS research studies of TXA
Protocol changes and review & Operational handling of TXA
Interview with Dr. William Havron, OU Trauma Services
- PRAXIS FOR ANAPHYLAXIS
Office of the Medical Director/Medical Control Board
EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa CE
Defining anaphylaxis
Cardiovascular collapse form of anaphylaxis
World Allergy Organization treatment guidelines
Epinephrine treatment of anaphylaxis
Review of recent publications/abstracts regarding anaphylaxis
Protocol changes and review
- EMS CAPNOGRAPHY
Office of the Medical Director/Medical Control Board
EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa CE
Basic of the capnography waveform
Uses of capnography in EMS
Advanced concepts of capnography and research review
Protocol review
- 2012 CPR TEAM DYNAMICS
Office of the Medical Director/Medical Control Board
EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa CE
Resuscitation team roles and dynamics
Continuity of chest compressions
Timing of defibrillation
Passive oxygenation in limited rescuer situations
Supportive care strategies
Practical lab and video production
- 2011 CPR CHEST COMPRESSION TECHNIQUES
Office of the Medical Director/Medical Control Board
EMS System for Metropolitan Oklahoma City and Tulsa CE
Compression rate with metronome use
Compression techniques
Practical lab
- 2007 SIMPLE, COOL CHANGES IN PARAMEDIC AIRWAY CARE
Plano Fire Department Paramedic CE
Intubation techniques

CURRICULUM VITAE

Cricoid pressure vs. bimanual laryngoscopy
Airway bougie
Evaluation of a new alternative airway
 When to abandon intubation attempts
 Combitube vs. King LTS-D
Airway Management in Narcotic Overdoses
 Titrating naloxone

EMS OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE:
IF IT HAPPENS TO YOU, WHAT WILL YOU DO?

- i. Member, Standards & Practice Committee, National Association of EMS Physicians (2016-2021)
- j. President, Oklahoma College of Emergency Physicians (2016-2019).
- k. Chair, EMS Committee, American College of Emergency Physicians (2016-2018)
- l. President-Elect, Oklahoma College of Emergency Physicians (2015-2016).
- m. Member, Advocacy, Clinical Standards and Practices, and Mobile Integrated Healthcare Committees, National Association of EMS Physicians (2015 – Present).
- n. Vice President (2012-2016) Oklahoma Chapter, American College of Emergency Physicians.
- o. Member, Council Steering Committee & Council Subcommittees for Annual Meeting and Non-Bylaws Resolutions. American College of Emergency Physicians (2011-2012). Active participant in developing 2012 Council Annual Meeting and promoting development and submission of non-bylaws resolutions. Selected as Reference Committee Chairman.
- p. Member, EMS Committee, American College of Emergency Physicians (2011-present). Leading nationwide effort to improve EMS Medical Director understanding of Drug Enforcement Administration regulations regarding controlled substances. Working in multi-association taskforce to bring EMS Medical Director concerns to the DEA lead office in Washington, DC.
- q. Member, Council Steering Committee & Council Standing Rules Subcommittee, American College of Emergency Physicians (2010-2011). Active participant in revising 2011-2012 Council Standing Rules. Presented the Council Standing Rule Subcommittee Report to the Council Steering Committee in May 2011. Served as Member of Reference Committee A for 2011 Annual Council Meeting, hearing testimony on bylaws-related resolutions and drafting summary recommendations to the Council.
- r. Member, EMS Committee, American College of Emergency Physicians (2010-2011). Led the extensive revision of ACEP Policy: "Leadership in EMS", approved by ACEP Board of Directors without editing. Also, reviewed for subsequent revision of ACEP Policy "Interfacility transportation of the critical care patient and its medical direction."

- s. Councillor, American College of Emergency Physicians
OCEP (2018-2019)
OCEP Alternate Councillor (2017)
Oklahoma Chapter Board of Directors (2008-2016)
Emergency Medicine Residents' Association (1996-1999)
Service as a councillor involves representing the physicians from the respective chapter/organization at the ACEP Council Annual Meeting. The ACEP Council considers and acts upon business matters and clinical positions of the College in a manner like a "House of Representatives" of a state/national government.
- t. Site Reviewer, Commission on Accreditation of Ambulance Services (2001-2012). Perform on-site review of EMS organizations seeking to meet CAAS accreditation. Each review involves 2-3 days of extensive administrative and clinical operations review, with numerous interviews of leadership and front-line clinical personnel to evaluate compliance with over 200 standards.
- u. Organization and Course Reviewer, Continuing Education Coordination Board for Emergency Medical Services (2000-2012). Review submissions for individual courses and organizations seeking CECBEMS accreditation and/or accreditation granting privileges. Multiple courses/organizations have been personally reviewed each year of service.
- v. Member, Research Committee, National Association of EMS Physicians (1998-2000)
- w. Member, Fellows Task Force, National Association of EMS Physicians (1998-1999)
- x. Member, Mentoring Task Force, American College of Emergency Physicians (1998-1999)

2023 PRESIDENT-ELECT CANDIDATE WRITTEN QUESTIONS

Alison J. Haddock, MD, FACEP

Question #1: How would you address concerns that ACEP may be unduly influenced by corporate practice interests?

ACEP must do everything we can to have a singular focus on the individual emergency physician. While we strive to include all kinds of EM practices, emergency physicians are our reason for being. The individual EP who is weathering the recurrent boarding crises, the COVID cases with insufficient PE, the shift work sleep disorder is our center; that individual must feel empowered and supported by ACEP for our organization to remain vibrant. If any EM practice is failing to provide a high-quality working environment for emergency physicians, ACEP must be unafraid to shine a light on this situation. Our employer profile database is starting to highlight the size, staffing model and group governance of any group that chooses to advertise or sponsor with ACEP. We are also asking employers to attest that their group adheres to critical ACEP policies which ensure that EPs are compensated fairly and transparently. ACEP must continue to adopt policies that prioritize the needs of the practicing emergency physician over corporate interests – like our paid parental leave policy – and continue to develop ways to identify which groups and locations are following those policies. Over the past several years, I have served as Board Liaison for the ED Accreditation Task Force and helped spearhead our forthcoming ED Accreditation Program. Through accreditation, ACEP can set the standard for what a high-quality emergency department looks like and make sure that the physicians working in that department are prioritized, not forgotten.

Since the founding of the EM specialty, our entire field has been increasingly influenced by the corporatization and financialization of medicine. We have seen financial entities, including private equity, increasingly interested in emergency medicine as a potential source of profits, and have seen emergency medicine companies increasingly focused on maximizing their income and increasing profits for company owners. When the specialty was founded, those company owners were practicing emergency physicians, but increasingly, the owners are shareholders in large medical groups or even private equity companies. The forces driving these trends are much larger than ACEP, and much larger than emergency medicine – they span the entire American economy. While we have always seen ourselves as representing everyone in emergency medicine, ACEP needs to continue to do more to focus on our roots as the defenders of the emergency physicians themselves. We may not be able to stop consolidation, but we can be the leading voice for concerns about the negative impacts of EM consolidation and financialization of our patients and our practice. As Chair, I led the board in writing a statement voicing the threat that these changes pose to physician autonomy. Our work to empower the emergency physician in this landscape must continually increase to counterbalance growing corporate practice interests.

Question #2: What are your ideas for creating and/or providing tangible and indispensable benefits to ACEP members?

The two greatest benefits of ACEP membership will always be our members and our advocacy. The ability to collaborate and network with fellow members – developing relationships and growing opportunities within our field – is absolutely indispensable and our advocacy team is incredible at speaking out at all levels for the needs of the individual emergency physician. But what can be done to make these benefits more tangible?

- Enhance networking opportunities: at the annual meeting and through EngagED
- Update our educational products to reflect the needs of the 21st century learner: as Chair of ACEP's "Tiger Team," I am leading our efforts to revamp the annual meeting to ensure it is the time and place where the global emergency medicine community gathers to connect, evolve and reignite their passion for serving patients
- Expand leadership development programs: engaging members early and enhancing their own ability to improve the EM environment including:
 - Training any interested EPs on how to own and run their own practice, expanding on the successful Independent EM Group MasterClass
 - Helping today's physician leaders in EM become tomorrow's hospital executives and insurance company CMOs
- ED Accreditation: ACEP's standards – requiring workplaces to provide sufficient resources for EPs to provide excellent care – can help EPs identify workplaces worthy of being their site of practice

- Identify expanded practice opportunities for EPs: our attrition rates are staggering, with 1 out of 10 female EPs and 1 out of 13 male EPs leaving the practice of EM within 5 years of graduating from residency. Our skill sets are tremendous and we don't want to lose that talent. Our current strategic plan and New Practice Models Task Force have started this work, and it must be heavily prioritized.
- Educate members about unionization and support efforts to unionize: as our employers consolidate, this option should be open to us to counterbalance their size and power
- Optimize the EM Data Institute: gather and disseminate data to allow smaller practices to compete with their consolidated brethren with the power of "big data" behind them
- Grow critical advocacy at the state and hospital level: some of the most important decisions impacting our practice aren't made in DC, but much closer to home

Realizing these opportunities allows ACEP to continue providing timely resources within our evolving specialty and will provide exceptional, tangible value to our members. While some of these efforts may sound like pipe dreams, I have both the experience and the resolve to actualize these dreams.

Question #3: What new thoughts do you have in balancing board certified emergency physician workforce distribution gaps and safe scope of practice for non-physicians?

No patient should be seen in an emergency department without the involvement of a residency-trained, board-certified (or board-eligible) emergency physician. ACEP defines this as the gold standard in emergency care. However, we cannot forget that rural areas face significant shortages of emergency physicians. Despite the growth we have seen in residency programs, we are not seeing more emergency physicians working in remote EDs. Recent data published in Annals showed that between 2013 and 2019, the percentage of clinicians working in rural areas who were emergency physicians actually dropped slightly. It is critical for our specialty to work on our rural pipeline. This means supporting efforts to recruit college students from rural areas in their pre-med years and support their transition into medical school, then continuing to expose medical students to the experience of rural medicine during their clerkship years. If we wait until residency for trainees from urban areas with only urban experiences to get first hand experience in a rural setting, it may be too late to persuade them of the value of a rural career. This limitation does not mean that rural rotations should not be supported. Rural rotations for emergency medicine residents need to be prioritized and made much more accessible. Trainees should be incentivized to participate in these rotations with optimized scheduling, supported housing, and an additional stipend to cover the expense of being away from home. We must work to reduce structural and accreditation barriers to the availability of these rotations through enhanced collaboration with the ACGME, CORD and program directors, rural EPs and rural hospitals. Practicing in a rural area can be deeply rewarding with opportunities to spend more time at the bedside and develop deeper relationships with a smaller cadre of ED staff. The more positive experiences we can create for trainees within rural practices, the more EPs we can attract to these areas.

As the problem of strengthening the rural pipeline cannot be solved overnight, in the interim, we will continue to see some nurse practitioners and physician assistants developing careers in rural emergency departments. Evidence shows that their presence has been increasing in rural EDs, and ACEP's own Rural Task Force identified in 2020 that some rural EDs may not have sufficient volume to support dedicated ED physician staffing. However, both the Rural Task Force (2020) and the Telehealth Task Force (2021) agreed that telehealth supervision of NPs and PAs in rural practice environments by board-certified emergency physicians is a viable model for improving patient safety and extending the reach of the BC EP through the use of a physician-led team. A "hub and spoke" model allows a centrally located board-certified EP to collaboratively supervise NPs and PAs in multiple hospitals simultaneously. Continuous improvements in technology and broadband capability mean that this kind of supervision will become easier every year and can allow true team-based care even without an emergency physician physically present at the bedside. To optimize this kind of care, we must ensure that our trainees are learning the skills they will need to be effective in this role, including strategies for effectively supervising NPs and PAs and how to effectively use telehealth technologies to evaluate patients, from building rapport to performing video physical exams.

Finally, in order to incentivize emergency physicians to practice in rural areas where patient volumes may be lower, we must seek out ways to compensate them for the hours they put in standing at the ready for critically ill patients to arrive. We do not fund rural fire departments solely based on the number of fires they respond to per year, and we should not pay rural emergency physicians based solely on the number of patients they see. A rural ED staffed by a well-trained EP is an essential resource in small communities that may be otherwise lacking in readily available healthcare resources. Both rural EDs and rural EPs should receive compensation reflecting the critical nature of that resource. All EPs are currently experiencing the pain of our current boarding crisis, and the lack of sufficient funding of our safety net and surge capacity is a contributor to that crisis. We cannot continue to make that mistake in rural America, where our neighbors deserve the same access to high-quality emergency physicians delivered in urban areas.

Mission Statement:

The Texas College of Emergency Physicians exists to promote quality emergency care for all patients and to represent the professional interests of our members.

August 9, 2023

Sonja Montgomery
ACEP Council
Dallas, TX

Dear Councillors,

On behalf of the Texas College of Emergency Physicians, we proudly and enthusiastically endorse Alison Haddock, MD, FACEP for President-Elect of the American College of Emergency Physicians. We are confident that Dr. Haddock's skilled leadership will ensure that the College continues to thrive over the next three years.

During her six years on the ACEP Board of Directors, Dr. Haddock has held many leadership roles and supported many key sections, committees, and task forces. Last year, she was a highly effective Board Chair, fostering successful collaboration and ensuring an emphasis on strategy. In the preceding year, she served as Vice President, acting as an effective liaison with developing leaders in the College through her work with the Young Physicians Section and EMRA. Her commitment to mentorship, especially evident in her guidance to young physicians within TCEP, is commendable and reflects her unwavering advocacy for the growth and development of our profession. Dr. Haddock's legacy as a former director of the TCEP Leadership and Advocacy Fellowship underscores her commitment to nurturing the next generation of leaders in Emergency Medicine.

Dr. Haddock has been an astute leader for many years both within TCEP and ACEP, and we enthusiastically endorse her for the position of President-Elect of ACEP.

Sincerely,

Sandra Williams, DO, MPH, FACEP

The President with a Plan

At this critical time for our organization, we need an experienced leader.

Emergency physicians know all too well the problems our specialty is facing. ACEP needs a president with a plan – and when ACEP stands up for EM physicians, they will stand up for ACEP.

The Plan:

- Prioritize emergency physicians over corporate interests by becoming the leading voice for concerns about the negative impacts of EM corporatization and financialization
- Set the standard for what a high-quality emergency department looks like, including important physician-first policies like paid parental leave, through our forthcoming ED Accreditation Program
- Lead the fight against ED boarding and crowding, which threatens both the well-being of patients and the wellness of emergency physicians
- Expand leadership development, engaging members early and helping today's EM leaders become tomorrow's practice owners and hospital C-suite executives
- Update our educational offerings to reflect the needs of the 21st century learner
- Enhance the presence of sections and chapters as critical locations for members to find their home within our large organization
- Grow critical advocacy at the state and hospital level to help keep decision making in the hands of physicians, not governments or corporations
- Address membership attrition rates by intensifying outreach to new residency grads and young physicians – the next generation members we need most
- Support physician efforts to unionize and educate our members about unionization as an option to counterbalance our employers' size and power
- Protect emergency physicians from predatory employment practices by fighting for fair contracts and due process
- Address attrition from the specialty by identifying and highlighting expanded practice opportunities for EPs
- Educate policymakers and the public that residency-trained board-certified emergency physicians provide the highest quality unscheduled acute care
- Strengthen our rural pipeline, including efforts to recruit students from rural areas as early as undergrad and supporting rural rotations for EM residents
- Optimize the EM Data Institute to help smaller practices compete with their consolidated brethren with the power of "big data" behind them
- Unite emergency physicians from across the globe at an updated annual meeting that offers the ultimate gathering place for all

As I conclude my sixth year of service on the ACEP Board of Directors, I am proud to have represented you as a board member, Vice President, Chair of the Board, and liaison to committees, sections, and task forces. With the practical knowledge I have gained through these experiences, I am ready to lead. ACEP must rapidly evolve to meet the needs of our members amidst the ever-shifting health care landscape, and I am the right choice to meet this challenge.

ELECT

for ACEP
President

THE PRESIDENT WITH A PLAN.

AT THIS CRITICAL TIME, WE NEED AN EXPERIENCED LEADER.

Emergency physicians know all too well the problems our specialty is facing. ACEP needs a president with a plan – and when ACEP stands up for EM physicians, they will stand up for ACEP.

ELECT

PASSION FOR OUR SPECIALTY.
PASSION FOR PROGRESS.

- Prioritize emergency physicians over corporate interests by becoming the leading voice for concerns about the negative impacts of EM corporatization and financialization
- Set the standard for what a high-quality emergency department looks like, including important physician-first policies like paid parental leave, through our forthcoming ED Accreditation Program
- Expand leadership development, engaging members early and helping today's EM leaders become tomorrow's practice owners and hospital C-suite executives
- Enhance the presence of sections and chapters as critical locations for members to find their home within our large organization
- Grow critical advocacy at the state and hospital level to help keep decision making in the hands of physicians, not governments or corporations
- Address membership attrition rates by intensifying outreach to new residency grads and young physicians – the next generation members we need most
- Educate our members about unionization as an option to counterbalance our employers' size and power
- Protect EPs from predatory employment practices by fighting for fair contracts and due process
- Address attrition from the specialty by identifying and highlighting expanded practice opportunities for EPs
- Educate policymakers and the public that residency-trained board-certified emergency physicians provide the highest quality unscheduled acute care
- Unite emergency physicians across the globe at an updated annual meeting offering the ultimate gathering place for all

Ryan A. Stanton MD, FACEP

Question #1: How would you address concerns that ACEP may be unduly influenced by corporate practice interests?

The impact of the corporate practice of medicine (CPOM) has been a narrative that has been propagated for decades yet escalated over recent years with broad consolidation within medicine. CPOM is a very important topic for our college and physicians and deserves ongoing focus.

During my four years on the board and all the meetings during my tenure, I have never felt there was any outside corporate or industry influence in the boardroom. The ACEP Board of Directors and our officers are held to the highest standard of ethical behavior and representation through our organizational documents, fellow members of the board, the representative body of our college, and our global membership. Our leaders know that their responsibility is to the college and our physicians, not to their own employers and interests outside of ACEP. We are an organization OF emergency physicians FOR emergency physicians.

I do acknowledge that imagery and perception are very powerful and feel we have significant opportunity within the college. It may be difficult to dispel a specific narrative when it is highly visible within the college. Subject matter displayed prominently on banners and advertisements can distract from the primary purpose of the gathering. We have made significant steps with the removal of corporate sponsorship of ACEP official gatherings such as the opening/closing sessions at SA and within the educational settings. We continue to strengthen the transparency of employers with the checklists and disclosures available to all attendees to SA.

As for me personally, I would like to see us take several more steps to separate ACEP from the “business of medicine”.

- 1) Remove employer advertisements and banners from high visibility areas of SA and our publications. These should be areas to promote the college and the wonderful work of our emergency physicians.
- 2) Redesign the vendor areas with a separate setting for employment opportunities like we see with EMRA, giving them all equal footing and opportunity, focusing on the job itself rather than flashy spaces and fleeting perks. This also provides a concentrated location for those in search of a job to focus on that alone. This also allows the remainder of the vendor area to be focused on other aspects of EM practice outside of employment.
- 3) Continue to strengthen transparency and expectations with employers across the board. As “The American College of Emergency Physicians”, our role is to advocate as a component body for our physicians which means helping every one of them with the accurate and details information on employment opportunities no matter the setting in which they choose to work.
- 4) Continue to build and embolden resources for physicians, including contract review, legal resources, and as an advocate for emergency physicians when there are issues/concerns.
- 5) Continuing to address concerns of our members, providing them with resources, protection, and guidance when there are employment related challenges.

It is our responsibility as ACEP and our leaders to continue to demonstrate a clear separation and independence from outside entities. We must continue and further walk the walk and talk the talk of ACEP as the largest EM organization that will continue to fight and advocate for every emergency physician irrespective of practice model and setting.

Question #2: What are your ideas for creating and/or providing tangible and indispensable benefits to ACEP members?

Our charge is in our name. We are “The American College of Emergency Physicians”. Every decision we make and project we pursue should be to the advancement and benefit of our emergency physicians. As we pivot the college into the future, we must narrow our focus and efforts to the simple idea of “how do we help our physicians/specialty” and by doing so, provide the best possible care to our patients. One of the greatest challenges is that some of the most significant ROI flies under the radar. The work of our reimbursement team has protected emergency physicians from significant cuts, protecting our codes, and ensuring that efforts to whittle away at physician payments are blocked. Legal and advocacy efforts on the state and federal level have protected physicians, our practice, and our patients. ACEP does amazing work on behalf of its physicians and is the organization that can truly move the needle for emergency physicians. There are three main things we must do as a college to address the question.

- 1) We must narrow our focus to projects and efforts that directly benefit the careers and environments of our emergency physicians. Giving our emergency physicians the best opportunities and settings allows them to provide the best care for each and every patient 24/7/365.

- 2) We must connect with our physicians “where they are” and provide the ACEP experience they need to maximize their career, communicating the resources, opportunities, efforts, and successes of ACEP to their specialty. This includes endeavors to update our platforms, IT infrastructure, and engagement to allow an ACEP experience that is tailored to each individual physician no matter their interests, stage of career, or environment of work. I want to see each physician able to connect to “My ACEP”.
- 3) We must continue to foster leadership and opportunities for physicians within EM to utilize their expertise to advance emergency medicine and our specialty. None of us has all the skills sets or answers, but together, we can move mountains
- 4) .

Question #3: What new thoughts do you have in balancing board-certified emergency physician workforce distribution gaps and safe scope of practice for non-physicians?

The workforce study shook the foundation of emergency medicine. After decades of assumptions that we would “never fill all the seats”, we have been faced with the threat of an overabundance of emergency physicians which has led to some of the downstream impacts, including the match struggles. What is even more clear is that we continue to have a significant distribution issue within EM with abundance pushing down larger markets while rural and critical access setting still struggle to fill shifts. More recent data has demonstrated that the initial study significantly underestimated physician career longevity and attrition (which is an issue in itself), but it has provided an opportunity to address challenges that were known and unknown. The workforce efforts must continue with opportunities to guardrail residency growth, raise the bar on the skillsets of emergency physicians, and ensure we continue to recruit the best and brightest to this wonderful specialty. One of the major areas of focus must be on the distribution of EM physicians with opportunities within residency to have substantive rural and critical access experience. This also means advocating for incentives that can assist attracting physicians of all career stages to rural and critical access settings.

I have long felt that every emergency patient deserves access to an emergency physician. Non-physician practitioners have played an important role in the US healthcare system, but ongoing efforts for expanded scope of practice and independence is not in the best interest of our patients. I absolutely believe in the physician led team. Within my own PDG, I continue to push towards more physician coverage with selective NPP coverage where appropriate. I believe the best care is provided by an emergency physician...period. If we truly are experiencing saturation of available emergency jobs, then we need to see growing access to emergency physicians in all environments of emergency medicine.

Three take home points for what I believe.

- 1) There is no substitution for the physician led team. Every patient in a US emergency department deserves access to an emergency physician no matter their zip code.
- 2) At no point should a physician role be replaced by a NPP for any reason, but especially as a perceived profit/control strategy.
- 3) ACEP must continue to fight expanded scope of practice or independent practice on the state and federal level. Independent practice is the privilege earned with having a MD or DO after your name.

The workforce dilemma is a challenge we will face for years to come. I am proud that ACEP has been willing to tackle tough questions and work towards realistic solutions in the promotion of EM and our physicians.

ACEP Councillors;

It is with great pleasure the Kentucky Chapter of ACEP (KACEP) and the ACEP Pain Management and Addiction Medicine Section endorse Dr. Ryan A. Stanton as a candidate for President-Elect for the American College of Emergency Physicians. We have had the pleasure of serving with Ryan over many years. He has shown exemplary state and national involvement in ACEP. Ryan is currently serving on ACEP Board of Directors and has held many state leadership roles; Councillor, Public Relations Committee Chair, Vice President, and President of KACEP. He remains an integral member of the state Board of Directors and serves as the Board Liaison for Pain and Addiction Medicine.

Ryan is our "go-to" member for all things public relations. His background in television and radio makes him very comfortable in front of crowds and the camera. He has natural leadership ability and is very charismatic. He serves in leadership and medical directorships for many different entities; Lexington Fire/EMS, AMR/NASCSR Safety Team, AirMed International, and Infield Care Team for NASCAR events.

Ryan works clinically in the emergency department and yet he always finds time to advocate for emergency medicine with the legislators in Frankfort and Washington. No matter how busy, we know we can always count on Ryan to testify on behalf of emergency physicians throughout the state and nation. He takes every opportunity to promote strategies that manage acute and chronic pain in emergency medicine. He has provided many educational presentations on the treatment of patients with opiate addiction.

Ryan always hosts our KACEP EMRA grant awardees at the ACEP Leadership and Advocacy meetings in Washington, DC. He provides our residents a view of the Hill that most would not be able to offer. This has opened many young minds to emergency medicine advocacy and its importance.

Ryan's curriculum vita illustrates his numerous achievements during his career. His medical work, Fire/EMS leadership, media roles, and his young physician mentorships have touched many lives. It is our pleasure to endorse Dr. Ryan Stanton.

Sincerely,

Hugh Shoff, MD, MS, FACEP

Fellow emergency physicians, we are in a time of significant change within our profession and college. We are facing significant challenges, but these obstacles also present equal opportunities. Our members and fellow physicians are hungry for a strong voice and advocate for our profession. Pressures from all sides willing to take advantage of our environment, departments, and physicians. We as ACEP must be the unifying voice willing speak and fight for our physicians. We have two major roles as the American College of Emergency Physicians. We serve as the “union” of EM, fighting as the body of emergency medicine physicians to move the needle in a positive direction for our physicians, patients, and profession. We also serve to facilitate each physician’s “WHY”. Every member has unique interests and skills. We must leverage our expertise and resources to help EVERY emergency physician achieve their best career possible.

I offer to this esteemed collection of emergency physicians 32 years of media experience, passionate advocacy on the state and federal levels, as well as platforms that help us reach far outside the membership rolls of ACEP. I have been driven throughout my career on a foundation of the emergency physician and our relationship with our patients. With this as the guiding principle, we can build the emergency medicine of the future that builds up our physicians and allows each and every one of us to provide the best care to every patient in their time of need.

The key is that “the college” can’t do it alone. The president-elect and president represent the direction, will, and voice of the members. We must lean into our members and their expertise across the breadth of EM to advance the specialty into the future. I am fully prepared to be that voice and promote the greatness of our 39k+ members. Whether it is our medical students, residents, attendings, or legacy physicians, we are a community of individuals that together, can change the landscape of healthcare.

We are the American College of Emergency Physicians, individuals that serve every man, woman, and child in this country. Together, we are the safety net of this countries healthcare system and together, we can guide the future of emergency medicine.

THIS IS A TURNING POINT FOR ACEP
AND EMERGENCY MEDICINE. OUR
PHYSICIANS ARE STARVING FOR A STRONG VOICE AND ADVOCATE TO LEAD THE WAY INTO THE FUTURE FOR OUR SPECIALITY. OUR NUMBERS ARE
OUR STRENGTH. WE WILL UNIFY AS A COLLEGE TO FIGHT FORWARD AND BUILD THE SPECIALITY WE WANT TO SEE AND ONE OUR PATIENTS NEED.
OUR FUTURE AS ACEP AND MY DRIVE IS HELPING PHYSICIANS FIND THEIR
“WHY” AND HELPING EMERGENCY
PHYSICIANS BUILD THE CAREER THAT
